DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112 2nd Paragraph

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 5 recites the limitation at least one flyer and at least one shroud that moves radially with respect to the stator” rendering the claims indefinite. It is not understood which element is moving radially since the shroud is only disclosed moving axially in Figures 6 and 9.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dolgas et al. (US 5,947,404).

Doglas discloses an apparatus for winding multi-pole stators, wherein the stators are formed by a sheet stack ferromagnetic core, having an axis, a plurality of radially extending poles defining grooves between them, and a terminal board that coats in part the core and has a plurality of hooks 1A; comprising at least one flier 50 and at least one shroud that moves radially with respect to the stator overlapping a respective pole extension, the shroud comprises means 68 for guiding the wire on the hook (see Figure 7).

In regards to claim 7, Douglas discloses the wire forms a loop about the hooks 1A and a movable shield 68 arranged between a disengage and an engaged position (Fig. 7) between the hook and the shroud, suitable for keeping the wire at a forced position, for preventing the wire from disengaging from the hook when the flier moves backwards.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sakashita et al. (US 5,606,208).

Sakashita discloses an apparatus for winding multi-pole stators, wherein the stators are formed by a sheets stack ferromagnetic core, having an axis, a plurality of radially extending poles 3 defining grooves between them, and a terminal board that coats in part the core and has a plurality of hooks 6; comprising at least one flier and at least one shroud that moves radially with respect to the stator overlapping a respective pole extension, the shroud comprises means 23 for guiding the wire on the hook.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 8-13 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 19 July 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The arguments to the Douglas reference have been addressed in the above rejection.

In regards the Sakashita, the Examiner is confused by the applicant's remarks that "terminal 6 is not a wire." The rejection was drawn to element 6 as a hook and element 23 as a shroud for "guiding" the wire as broadly recited in claim 5.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
